Photo Editing

Editing photos for interior designer to present to client to redesign a bar with other materials like marble tile the thought was making it look like someone is walking into the ocean. I took out the chairs in the photo and put new ones and replace the blue wall with a marble tile texture. The ceiling, and the lower bar was replaced with the counter tops material.

Whatever it Takes to Get There

I hope you enjoy this collection of songs. They are inspired by the places, I've been, the people I've met and the passions I've pursued along the way. Written, created and crafted in the Pacific Northwest, the songs speak to my kaleidoscope of musical roots: Folk, Rock, Blues, Country, Soul, Gospel and all the genres that comprise Americana Music interwoven with a lifelong love of storytelling. I hope you enjoy the songs as much as I've enjoyed creating them.

The journey continues...

Enjoy!

Unveiled: Joyce Tenneson and the heroine's journey's movie release on PBS

"Sometimes I'm just working with someone and all of a sudden something happens between us... I don't know how it happens but they let go."

Joyce Tenneson

One of my favorite photographers, Joyce Tenneson took some portraits of our daughter. When our daughter was 15, I brought her to Joyce Tenneson for some portraits.... Little did I know that it would become a part of "Unveiled: Joyce Tenneson and the Heroine's Journey" movie release on PBS.

Friends of the Wolf

Robert Young

Friends of the Wolf

Robert Young
Real Writing Press

Wolves' favorite food? Ungulates—animals with hooves—like deer, elk, bison, and moose. But wolves aren't picky. They will also eat rabbits, raccoons, beavers, voles, mice, and even fish! If they can't find wild animals to eat, wolves will attack cows, sheep, goats, dogs, and cats. Look out! Wolves could even attack people.

Wolves are wild and dangerous animals. Who would dare be friends with them?

Think you can outrun a wolf? They run fast—nearly 40 miles (64 kilometers) an hour—for short distances (the fastest human has run 27.8 miles/44.7 kilometers) an hour. Wolves trot at 5 miles (8 km) an hour and can travel up to 50 miles (80 km) a day.
